Letter From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15th, 1866.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

I arrived in this city safely on the afternoon of the 10th, after a passage of fifty hours from the Columbia river to the Heads. We were detained four hours in the fog, getting rid of the pilot outside the bar, and had it not been for the foggy weather we experienced the whole trip, we should have made the quickest run from your city to this place, ever made by any steamer. I must confess that I was prejudiced against the Orizaba somewhat, as I considered her a "slow coach;" but since my passage on her, I claim her to be the fastest running vessel ever put on the line between here and Portland, and having had some experience in travelling that route I consider myself capable to judge. After having experienced the heat of your city and transferring myself to this windy place, it seems almost like jumping from summer to winter in a few hours, as it was blowing a perfect gale in San Francisco when we arrived. Either my constitution will not stand heavy blows as well as it did five years ago, or else the wind gets itself up here in better shape, as I find I cannot travel against head winds as well as I could then.

I cannot conceive what the San Francisco merchants would do but for the demand from the Columbia river country, as everything else seems so docile. The Orizaba was advertised on Saturday evening to leave on Wednesday afternoon. Sunday afternoon the drays and trucks began to form in line with goods, and on Monday the line extended up to the corner of Front and Clay streets. A few years ago Oregonians were all [illegible] at Flute, and second and third class hotels were considered about right, but now Front street bows lower to Northern merchants than to any other class who visit this city, and the "Occidental Hotel" reserves its best accommodations for arrivals from the "Columbia river." Such is life.

As the nominations for city officers are made and the election some weeks ahead, the Atlantic cable laid, peace declared in Europe and no fresh attack of earthquake here, the papers have hard work to fill up the news columns, since I returned, the only item of interest being those affecting the morals of this goodly city. Notwithstanding there is an unusual interest manifested in the religious community at present and union prayer meetings held at midday in Dr. Wadworth's church every day, and neighborhood prayer meetings being organized all over the city, we have occasional statements of the doings of some of the inhabitants that prove that there is still room for an improvement in the morals of the city. One case just developed goes to show the power of King Alcohol when his subjects bow the knee to him too frequently. The health officer discovered a man and his wife in a room somewhere in the lower part of the city where they had [illegible] shut up a month, beastly drunk during the whole time, and their supplies of liquor furnished them by their own children whom they had compelled to do their bidding. The authorities removed the couple to the hospital (where they have since died from the effects of liquor); and furnished a home for the children.

It is perfectly proper and right for Widows to look out for suitable husbands after they have been deprived of their former companion by [illegible], but very cruel when they undertake to rob a loving wife of her affectionate husband, and as a warning to any widows you may have among your readers, I insert the latest case we have in this city, that they may see the risk they run by interfering in family matters, and the value of a "live husband."

"Margaret E. Denny brings suit against Mrs. S. J. DeWolf to recover damages in the sum of $20,000 which she alleges was what her late husband, Gideon J. Denny, was worth to her. She avers that had it not been for the wiles and enticements made use of by the defendant Mrs. S. J. DeWolf, she would now be in the [illegible] of her husband. We are glad to see that husbands are are admitted by wives to have a money value. Should Mr. Denny's value be decided by the Fifteenth District Court to amount to $20,000, there are many husbands in this city who will hold their heads higher. There are some wives, we fear, who would sell their husbands, and deprive themselves of their love, comfort, society, support and assistance, for half the money."

Just think of paying $20,000 for somebody's husband! I will agree to furnish first-rate [illegible] for husbands at half that sum.

There has been a severe struggle going on in this city for several months to prevent the acceptance, by the Supervisors, of the Nicholson pavement, on the part of the city; but since the Nicholson Company have agreed to keep the pavement in repair not less than ten nor more than fifty years for one cent per foot extra per annum, and give good and sufficient bonds for the faithful performance of the contract, they seem to have overcome all opposition and the committee have reported in favor of the Nicholson pavement being adopted by the city. Should the report become a law, we may soon boast of as long a piece of good street as you can. It is without doubt the best pavement (for this coast at least) that has been tested.

The mail steamer is behind her time, as she has the Golden Age in tow from Acapulco. [Since arrived all right—ED. OREGONIAN.]

Greenbacks remain at 71c, but 7-30 bonds are held at 78c, owing to an advance of premium on them in Wall street, N. Y., to 67c.

Owing to the change of management in the California S. N. Co., the stock has advanced within the past thirty days from 58 to 80c, which indicates a strong confidence in the new management.

The Bank of California has declared a dividend on their capital of $5,000,000, of 1 7/0 for the past month, and they are now discussing the propriety of increasing the capital to $10,000,000. Their new building is going up slowly, and bids fair to excel in style and workmanship any building yet erected on this coast. The New Merchant's Exchange and Mechanic's Institute building are all under way and promise to compare favorably with any buildings yet erected. Although everybody says hard times and stocks down, still there appear to be money for new buildings and general improvements.

The papers have dates from St. Petersburg (Russia) to Aug. 12th. What do you think of that?

"Conservatism" Illustrated.

At the late election in Texas, Throckmorton, a rebel Brigadier-General, was chosen Governor; whereat, the Houston Evening Star, whose editor, R. H. Purdom, is as hearty a Johnson man as he was a rebel, utters a song of triumph, which we may reasonably suppose finds an echo in the breasts of the "Conservatives" both of that State and elsewhere. It is worth the reading, as showing in what manner the rebels are disposed to "let by-gones be by-gones." It should be added that the author was the most prominent person in Texas in getting up delegates to the Philadelphia Convention!

ROOST LOWER.

By the verdict of the voters of this State, the Radicals of Texas have received a rebuke which they cannot fail to understand. Taking advantage of what they considered to be the overthrow of constitutional liberty and the disfranchisement of the people, they made haste to organize the few scattered partisans through the State, who had rendered themselves odious by their underhanded and malicious course during the late struggle. They placed at their head leaders worthy of a better cause, by whose influence they hoped to deceive the unwary and entrap the unsuspecting into a support of their doctrines. Having failed in this, and rebuked by the overwhelming majority against them, our advice to them is to roost lower.

Because they hastened to indorse the bloody and proscriptive course of the Provisional Governor, who had been appointed over us, and from whom the people of this State shrank, as from the touch of some loathsome reptile, we would advise them to roost lower.

With their hands imbued in fratricidal blood, holding over us the bloody knife in order to intimidate us and force acquiescence in their miserable schemes of misrule, they have failed even to establish one jot or tittle of their claim to respect from our State, and for this we would advise them to roost lower.

Because they are affiliated with the friends of anarchy and ruin, oppression and violence, to suborn a fallen people to the behests of their conquerors and failed, we would advise them to roost lower.

Because they have proclaimed to the world that a servile race, just liberated by the force of arms and in contravention to the will of the people, are equal to the whites and should be elevated to equal political privileges with them, and have failed, we would advise them to roost lower.

And lastly, in the name of the people whom they have insulted and outraged by the vile slanders which they have unblushingly published to the world, without one shadow of truth, we would advise them to roost lower.

Ascent of Mount Hood.

SUMMIT OF MOUNT HOOD, Monday, Aug. 20, 1866—2:15 P. M.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

We have reached the summit of Mount Hood.

Three o'clock. We have succeeded in melting snow and boiling the water with the spirit lamp. Water boils at 180° Farenheit. According to Prof. Porter's rule (given in his chemistry) and also that in the Encyclopedia Brittanica is equivalent—550 feet should be allowed for every degree. 32° by 550 gives the height of Mount Hood to be seventeen thousand six hundred feet above the sea. The highest point of vegetation is eleven thousand feet. The highest of trees, of pine, is 9,400 feet.

Further particulars will soon be given about our attempts at measurement with the Barometer.

The party that has reached the summit two o'clock and fifteen minutes, from our camp ten miles below, consists of Prof. A. Wood, Rev. J. G. Deardorff, D. Baxter Clark, John E. Higgins, George H. Atkinson jr. and Rev George H. Atkinson. Dr. Whitehead and Daniel Harvey jr. reached the Snow Gorge or crevasse, about seven hundred and fifty feet below the summit.

Another party who camped at the edge of the woods the night before about four miles up the mountain, reached the summit at about ten o'clock A. M., consisting of Messrs. Hoyt, Campbell, Winther, Carey and Elliot, from Portland.

The ascent was difficult and hazardous.

Prof. Wood pronounces the Alpine flora of Mount Hood to be of a very interesting character. He finds at least thirty plants peculiar to this mountain, many of which are undoubtedly new.

A considerable attention has been given to the Geological, Mineralogical and Volcanic character of the mountain. The crater is about 1,000 feet below the summit on the south side. It is [illegible] constantly emitting a column of sulphur, steam and smoke. The odor is very nauseating as we pass it.

I close this at our camp—the old Government camp on the mountain road over Laurel Hill—it is 4,400 feet above the sea. The Summit of Mount Hood is ten miles from this point. We blazed a trail up one of the ridges to the upper tree line. It is one [illegible] steady ascent from this point.

All have returned safely, for which we feel thankful. Some will have sore faces, but eyes are apparently uninjured. More anon. Yours respectfully, G. H. ATKINSON.

PRUSSIAN PROCLAMATIONS.—Wm. H. R[illegible] writes to the London Times as follows:

The inhabitants of [illegible] have hitherto been treated by the Prussian troops with the greatest indulgence. Damages have, however, been done in several instances within the last few days to repaired railways and telegraph lines. Any person detected in such attempts will be immediately tried by Court-martial. The Communes within whose precincts such damage is inflicted will be amerced in a heavy fine. Any person pointing out the perpetrator of such damage shall at once receive five hundred florins in silver as a reward.

In consequence of the war brought about against our wishes by the Emperor of Austria, we enter [illegible] your [illegible] land, not as [illegible] and conquerors, but with full respect for your historic and national rights. We do not bring war and devastation, but kindness and friendship to all inhabitants without distinction of rank, creed, and nationality. Do not allow yourselves to be persuaded by our opponents and calumniators that we have entered upon this from lust of conquest. Austria has forced us to the field, having prepared to attack us in company with the [illegible] Government, but nothing is farther from our wish than the intention of opposing your rightful [illegible] for independence and free national development.

Mindful of the many almost unbearable sacrifices the [illegible] has already demanded of you in preparing for this war, we are far from intending to impose upon you fresh burdens, nor do we require anybody to act against his convictions. We shall be especially careful to honor and respect your holy religion, but we cannot suffer open resistance, and must in especial severity punish all [illegible] treachery. If you meet us with [illegible] you will only learn to know us as friends and not as enemies.

You act in especial foolishly when you abandon your dwellings and give them over to destruction.

You will do better to await the soldiers in a friendly manner, and negotiate peacefully as to the provisions which is indispensibly necessary. The military [illegible] orders will then require nothing but what must positively be had, and will [illegible] your property [illegible] you [illegible] by your flight.

The future we commit, with full confidence, to the hands of the God of Battles. Should our righteous cause prevail, the time may perhaps arrive when the Bohemians and Moravians will be able to realize their national [illegible] like the Hungarians. May fortune, then, crown your happiness.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 24, 1866.

Prospects of the Grain Crop

In some sections of the State the wheat harvest is finished in others it is at its height It has all along been expected that the crop this year would be unprecedentedly large Certainly the breadth of land sown was as great if not greater, than that of any previous year The season was supposed to be extremely favorable for a large yield, and such, we are informed, it is proving in regard to spring grains. But fall wheat in many localities does not turn out so well as its appearance before the harvest would have seemed to indicate. We learn from some of the principal farmers in several parts of the valley, who have already threshed their crops of fall wheat, that the yield does not much exceed half what might be ordinarily expected from a like quantity of straw. Still, the crop as a whole, will be very large, and the surplus more considerable, perhaps, than for several years, or, indeed, than ever before. This being the fact, the next consideration is, how shall it be disposed of? Where shall it be sold?

Vast quantities of flour have hitherto been consumed in eastern Oregon, Idaho and Montana, over and above what has been produced in those localities, but notwithstanding the great increase of population there the present year, and the consequent in[illegible] consumption of breadstuffs, it is not likely that so much flour will be shipped from here in that direction in future as has been heretofore. A great deal of wheat has been grown in the upper country this season, particularly in Walla Walla, Colville, Grand Ronde and Bitter Root valleys—not enough by any means for a full supply, but enough to very materially diminish the amount to be shipped. We cannot ship flour from here to undersell that made there, for the farmers of those valleys being so much nearer the market than we, can avoid a large part of the cost of transportation, which we are required to pay. Two weeks ago wheat was quoted at Walla Walla at sixty cents per bushel—whence it will be seen that the prospect for a market for our wheat at remunerative prices in that direction is not at present very good. With wheat ruling so low at Walla Walla, flour for shipment up the Columbia river must necessarily go at a low figure here.

The wheat crop of California is quite large this year, and the surplus will amount to several million bushels. At present, the price per bushel at San Francisco is about 90 cents. Oregon has shipped little flour there for a considerable time, as it would have to be re-shipped elsewhere from that port The San Francisco papers say there is still a lack of tonnage to carry the California crop away, and this though the profits of shipment to Australia, with grain at its present price at San Francisco, are very large. The Stockton Independent, a journal usually well informed on the subject, says that the present rates paid for wheat give the most astonishing returns to shippers. It makes the following computations.

> The last a[illegible] from Australia gave the average wheat quotations at about $2 70 per hundred. The shipper's wheat, ready sacked, will cost him at San Francisco $25 80 per ton. At $2 70 in Melbourne, he will sell his wheat at $54 per ton His gross profit will be $25 80 Let us suppose the shipper owner of the vessel, say a 1,500-ton ship, worth $50,000. His ship and cargo will make an investment of $97 300 The cargo stands him $47,300 He insures ship and cargo at the high rate of 5 per cent, which amounts to $4,691. He sells the cargo at $2 70 per hundred, which gives an aggregate of $81,000 From which deduct prime cost, $47,300, plus insurance [illegible] and cargo, $4,691, equal to $46,991, and we have left to the shipper a clear profit of $34,009, which is 74 per cent on the prime cost and insurance of his investment, not including the cost of [illegible], which is insured at its full value. He can make three trips in fifteen months, and an average ship will pay for itself besides discharging the wages of [illegible] and crew, every trip, making no allowance for [illegible] cargo.

This computation, which [illegible] to be fairly made, gives an excessively large profit to the shipper. So profitable a traffic ought surely not to languish long for want of shipping.

The crops at the East this year fall considerably short of the average. In Europe, the war [illegible] a short supply, which will increase exportations of grain from our eastern ports. Chile does not produce her usual crop this year, owing to the fact that at the season for planting she was engaged in war with Spain. Oregon and California will therefore have no rival the present year in the flour market in Australia and the Pacific Islands, and on the coast of China. The only question is about obtaining shipping to carry it away. If vessels cannot be had to load in the Columbia River direct for Australia and other places where there is a market, it might be found to pay, with our present cheap freights, to ship grain and flour to San Francisco for re-shipment to a market beyond the Pacific.

The Herald regards the marching of the Massachusetts and South Carolina delegations into the Philadelphia Convention arm-in arm, as a proof that "enemies are reconciled." Nothing of the kind. Those delegations never were enemies. The Copperheads of Massachusetts, the m[illegible] of all the Copperheads in the United States, because their numbers are few and the virulence of a great many is concentrated into one, always regarded the South Carolina [illegible] as their dearest friends. There never was the slightest enmity between them, and consequently their meeting was not in the nature of a reconciliation. The only persons these Copperheads and rebels ever regarded as their enemies, are the true Unionists of the North and South. The Herald draws a great many ob[illegible] from a very erroneous idea. In the first place the delegations were never [illegible], and in the next place the Massachusetts Copperheads did not represent the views of one-third of the voters of their State.

> The idea of legislating for one-third of the population of the country and [illegible] without allowing them any voice in the matter, or paying any attention to their wishes, is full of danger to the future peace and welfare of the nation.—A. Johnson

Only think of Andrew Johnson uttering such a sentiment as this—the man who, less than a year ago, and months after resistance had ceased, paid so little attention to the "wishes of one-third of the people of the country," that he compelled them to pass a constitutional amendment before he would accord to them any rights or privileges, or in the least degree relax his hold upon them. Johnson could legislate for one third of the people, or what comes to the same thing, he could compel them to legislate at his dictation, without the least "danger to the future peace and welfare of the nation," but the Congress of the United States cannot be permitted even to propose to the people an amendment to the Constitution. Great are the mysteries of "my policy"

JOHNSON VICTORY IN KENTUCKY —The character of the late Johnson victory in Kentucky—the election of Duvall—may be gathered from Gov. Bramlett's opinion of the convention which nominated Duvall Bramlette is an earnest Johnson man. He says,

> The name Democrat assumed by that Convention has neither length nor breadth enough to cover up nor hide from the public gaze the patent fact that those who composed that body were not Union men—were not Democrats, but were men whose sympathies and acts were adverse to the Union The candidate of a Union party that has no word of thanks for the Union soldier—no word of condemnation for secession and rebellion throughout nineteen resolutions, can have no personal merit sufficient to abate one jot or tittle of my opposition

Gov. Orr, of South Carolina, professed at Philadelphia to be very devoted to the Constitution How many times, before the rebellion in which he acted a zealous part, had he sworn solemn devotion to it! He wickedly broke his oaths—how far can we trust his professions? It is worth while, now and then, to compare the present with the past of these suddenly converted Constitution defenders.

Letter of Instructions to Minister Kilpatrick

A letter from Seward to Minister Kilpatrick at Chile is published, setting forth the policy of the United States concerning the wars in the neighboring republics He says we [illegible] fain that the republican system, which is accepted in any of these States shall not be wantonly assailed, that it shall not be subverted, as an end of lawful war by European powers is wars waged between nations in friendship with ourselves, if they are not pushed like the French war in Mexico to the political point mentioned, we do not intervene. Spain assured us that she would not carry on her war with Chile to that point, and we are ready now and henceforth to hold Spain to this engagement if found necessary Seward also, at some length, shows this policy is one of strict neutrality and friendship [illegible] which has governed the United States from the time Washington.

Foreign News.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 —By the Persia's mails it is ascertained the [illegible] of the Guy Fawkes plot to blow up the House of Parliament, reported by the cable, was greatly [illegible]ated. Nine pounds of powder and a slow match were picked up by a policeman on duty The object is not apparent.

The London News announces that the patronage of the Atlantic Cable has become so great that the Directors had in contemplation, the establishment of a new scale of prices for first, [illegible] and third class messages, according to priority, the latter to be at the same terms as now charged

The following are the principal [illegible] of interest in the Queen's speech in proroguing Parliament Her Majesty has great satisfaction in congratulating the country and the world at large on the [illegible] accomplishment of the great design of connecting Europe and America by means of electric telegraph. It is hardly possible to anticipate the full extent of the benefits which may be conferred on the human race by this signal triumph of scientific enterprise, and her Majesty has pleasure in expressing her deep sense of what is due to the private energy which, in spite of [illegible] failure and discouragement, has at length for the second time succeeded in establishing direct communication between the two continents. Her Majesty trusts that no impediments may occur to interrupt the success of this great undertaking calculated as it is to cement much closer the ties which bind her North American colonies to their mother country, and to promote the unrestrained intercourse and friendly [illegible] which it is most desirable should subsist between her Majesty's [illegible] and the great republic of the United States

VIENNA, August 22, M.—The reported closing of peace negotiations between Austria, Bavaria and Prussia, is [illegible] but the [illegible] are still in progress and it is believed will be soon brought to a satisfactory termination

PARIS, August 22, Evening —It is reported that the Empress of Mexico has failed in her [illegible], Napoleon refusing to grant [illegible] of French troops prior to their evacuation, to quell the insurgents in Mexico It is further reported, with some degree of credit, that the Emperor Maximillian will soon return to Europe.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—The Eastern line is out of order, no Eastern news.

John J. Knowlton filed his petition in insolvency to day He states that he became insolvent by printing and publishing a newspaper called the San Francisco Evening Journal in 1861, by which venture he lost $12,000. His liabilities amount to $7,491 86, while his [illegible] consist of his household furniture, which he asks to have set apart for the use of his family

In the case of John Campbell, indicted for manslaughter for killing Anthony Hargrove, on motion of defendant, and it [illegible] that the crime was committed within the jurisdiction of the Fifteenth District Court, the case was [illegible] to that Court for trial.

Judge Dwinelle to-day, denied the motion for a new trial in the suit of Walter H. Tompkins vs David Mahoney, in which the plaintiff recovered a verdict of $20,000 for legal services.

The late landlord of the [illegible] Street House, John Brewster, Jr, was insured in the Brooklyn Insurance Company for $5,000, which sum has been paid to his widow.

John Schwolm was divorced from his wife Elizabeth Schwolm to-day, on account of adultery, by a decree of the Fifteenth District Court.

The project which has been for some time on foot for a new paper mill in Santa Cruz county, has assumed definite shape and the mill will be erected without delay The new paper mill company consists of capitalists of this city and the mill will be adapted to the manufacture of wrapping and other coarse papers for which there is still extensive demand.

Mary Gurnall, a native of Ireland aged 35 years, was committed to Stockton yesterday as insane. At times she is a raving maniac.

The board of supervisors have empowered the chief of police to have the city cleaned once a week.

The Ethno Historical Society of San Francisco have filed certificates in the county clerk's office Its workings are declared to be divided into three sections, namely Ethnology, History and Geography It therefore covers the ground fully occupied by three societies, and probably there is one advantage as it increases the field and diminishes the expenses. The first trustees are H H Haight, John T Doyle, John W. Dwinelle, Joseph W Winans and Louis R Lull The first officers are John H. Dwinelle, President, J W Winans, Treasurer, Louis R Lull, Recording and Corresponding Secretary The formation of such a society is to be hailed as an evidence of increasing culture. It is said to have been suggested by the recent departure of the Russo-American telegraph expeditions of Col Bulkley and his associates, and on his return it is expected that the working of the Geographical section will be inaugurated with proceedings of unusual interest.

Road across the Cascades

STEILACOOM, W T, August 22.—Hon Levi Farnsworth, the Commissioner appointed by the Legislature to examine and locate the most desirable route through the Cascades, has returned from his tour of inspection and has given his preference to the Natches Pass for the reason that it already has the present advantage of a well laid out and beaten military road with abundance of grass, fuel and water And Mr Downey, the Sub Commissioner is instructed to carry out the requirements of the act by employing the necessary labor in putting the road in passable condition forthwith for the accommodation of the traveling public We understand that Mr Downey and assistants propose to devote the coming month of September to the clearing and grading of the road through the Natches pass & over Mud Mountain

Destructive Fire at Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, Aug 23 —A fire broke out this morning in a building belonging to Jessie Bowles, occupied by Westall, cabinet maker, burning eight buildings before it could be checked Loss as follows: Durgin & Co $3,000 Bowles, $1 000 Westall $5,000, Eubanks, $300, Wm Rouck, $1,500 Stevens, $1 000; Dupee, $500 Ezra Durgin, $500 No insurance The citizens of Vancouver tender their thanks to Col Blake Capt. Babbitt, Capt. Weeks, Lieut Hall and soldiers under their charge for the promptness in which the engine belonging to the garrison, was brought to the fire, also for the way the officers and men worked [illegible] the progress of the flames Capt Babbitt especially [illegible] citizens [illegible] charge of [illegible] put forth [illegible] town would have [illegible]

Vote of Thanks to the Soldiers.

VANCOUVER, August 23 —At a meeting of the citizens of Vancouver held at Young America Hall on the evening of the 23d of August Capt. William Kelly was elected President and C H Hunter Secretary A committee on resolutions was appointed consisting of H G Struve Capt James Turnbull and Louis S[illegible] who reported the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted

Resolved That we the citizens of Vancouver tender our heartfelt thanks [illegible] stationed at Fort Vancouver for their active, earnest and untiring efforts [illegible] during the conflagration which visited our city on the morning of the 23d inst, recognizing that without their prompt assistance our whole town would have been inevitably a mass of ruins

Resolved That our thanks are especially due to Col. Blake Col Vincent Captains Babbitt, Weeks and Sanborn Lieutenant Hall and other gentlemen connected with the military service at this post, who will ever be held by us in grateful remembrance for their prompt, zealous and disinterested exertions in our behalf

Resolved That these resolutions be published in the Portland dailies and the Vancouver Register

On motion, the meeting adjourned.

SENATORIAL —The State Journal pens the Nesmith organ at the Dalles in the following style,

> The Dalles paper is very much exercised about the "Senatorial election," and in a very lengthy article on the subject completely demolishes the "Radicals and Portland The editor of that sheet says "the office of Senator is the property of the people of the State, and does not belong to any political party" and hence a man should be elected who does not belong to any political party [illegible] and conservative that would be But he fails [illegible] and that he "belongs" to the man who don't belong to any political party which causes his zeal in that direction He plainly insinuates that unless his advice is followed out, and a man elected who is not a Radical, all the Union strength east of the mountains will be transferred immediately to the Copperheads Of course no one doubts that he owns and controls the Union party of that section—to the extent of one vote at least The "Radicals" grieve his big patriotic soul, but Portland—that contemptible mud-hole—has "struck a deadly blow at Oregon generally and (as one Senator already)" and that actually wrung his great conservative heart Portland, the commercial heart, by expanding and sending business and prosperity to every part of the country, is ruining the State! What a pity And how unfortunate that men who may hereafter be elected Senators can't live in every county at the same time, or "board round" so the whole State could have a Senator, for if a man lives anywhere at the time he is elected, he must, of course, always thereafter represent that particular place instead of the State. If Portland could be destroyed, then one or two wayside trading posts might be what "nature designed they should be"—small towns and some envious people who can't bear to see any place prosper outside of their own immediate neighborhood, might have rest

PICTURE VERDICT.—ELLSWORTH & CARDWELL 89 First Street have received the vox populi verdict which pronounces that the PHOTOGRAPHS, SUN PEARLS, etc., from this GALLERY are the finest ever produced on the Pacific coast. This accords with the opinion of transient residents, judges of art, who [illegible] visit this establishment during their short stay This firm are prepared to meet all demands in the Picture line

THE PEOPLE'S TRANSPORTATION COMPANY.—During a short visit to Oregon City yesterday we took a look at the [illegible] improvements being made at Willamette [illegible] by the People's Transportation Company. Less than one year ago the property they are now improving for the development of navigation on this river, was owned by private parties. After the purchase in September, 1865, the company started the works they are now engaged in carrying forward to completion, by the construction of a mammoth basin, which served as a [illegible] across the portage last winter, doing away [illegible] railroad, and built a large warehouse into and through which cargoes were passed from the lower river steamers, and those plying above the falls, shortening [illegible] and very materially in making the [illegible] according to the former method. One week [illegible], a force of men were employed to [illegible] carry out the project, and in the space of ten days a vast amount of work has been performed. The wall of the basin, or "partition" of the water has been carried [illegible] feet farther up, in the direction of Canemah. Timbers [illegible] in size, fourteen to eighteen inches square, are spiked to the rocky bed of the river in a most substantial [illegible] across which are spiked layers of timber [illegible] from six to ten inches square. These [illegible] are next bolted down at the ends with heavy [illegible], parallel over and of uniform size to the [illegible] of the whole, spiked and fastened with [illegible] and three-quarter bolts at intervals of six feet, and then the bulk head is run up to a height of 15 feet at the upper end of the basin, gradually falling to ten feet at the [illegible] of 1,600 feet from the entrance, the whole [illegible] "crib" twenty feet wide, which is to be filled with rock. This immense work is being done under the [illegible] supervision of the President, Mr. Asa McCully, [illegible] and perseverance the people of the Willamette valley are greatly indebted for the benefits they are now reaping through the facilities afforded [illegible]. Capt. Joseph Kellogg, Capt. Geo. [illegible] and Mr. [illegible] M. Pratt, Directors of the company, are taking active part in the matter of pressing the work forward. When it is considered that since this enterprise was started the company have been obliged to contend [illegible] and deal largely in law-suits, [illegible] to restrain them from the consummation of their plans, it must be admitted that they [illegible] of much credit for their efforts. [illegible] their [illegible] at the present time are very large, [illegible] they are gradually reducing the tariff on freight and [illegible] over their lines, and notwithstanding [illegible] it will readily be conceded that [illegible] class of monopolists which tear down, [illegible] up all with whom they are con[illegible] finally. It must eventually be [illegible] as much a blessing to their part of [illegible] as have been the Oregon Steam [illegible] on the Columbia. What could [illegible]

[illegible] DIFFERENT SPECTACLES.—[illegible], as well as the editor of the Vancouver [illegible] have been looking at Portland [illegible] for a long time, and after a recent visit [illegible] articles to show how dull times were with [illegible]. The following is from [illegible] letter to the San Francisco New Age, and it is [illegible] by one who had wiped his [illegible] spectacles, and saw things as they really exist in Portland. He quotes: "Portland [illegible] have about it all the [illegible]. The streets are all alive, and the hum of commerce and manufactures is almost [illegible] from one's [illegible], yet [illegible] complain of dull times. How I wish that our interior California [illegible] such dull times [illegible] of Albany, Salem, Oregon City and Portland [illegible] day. What will our *dull*ing men of [illegible] when I tell them that I know one in their [illegible] who, a few days since, sold (strictly at [illegible]) thousand dollars worth of [illegible], and [illegible] in Marysville, Sacramento and Stockton [illegible] of his. Take [illegible] case. A young [illegible] of two [illegible] dollars, and other [illegible] to be found in a country store, he [illegible] a mile from here; he paid out his cash and [illegible] less than two years ago. His [illegible] of stock showed that he had [illegible] dollars' worth of goods on hand—[illegible] who helped him to start, and [illegible] his goods, told me that [illegible] a dime to any man. I wish the Oregon [illegible] bad times would take a slide and pitch [illegible] to Portland. This dull [illegible], with us would be called the era of [illegible]. Fine stately brick stores are going up on every [illegible], for the [illegible] of the [illegible] Portland has more [illegible] of that [illegible] than our city of San Francisco. [illegible] just finishing the building [illegible] the most [illegible] building on [illegible] the main hall, designed for the [illegible] the aspiring people who have [illegible] in [illegible] proportions, beyond [illegible] to fulfil [illegible]."

[illegible] MILL.—The [illegible] story of the [illegible] the [illegible] Paper Mill of Oregon is [illegible] at Oregon City, and the machinery is all [illegible] in position so soon as [illegible] third [illegible] are sufficiently advanced. The [illegible] on the site of the pioneer store of the [illegible] the property of Capt. J. H. Couch [illegible] by 40 feet in size, three stories and [illegible] high in all, that is equal to en[illegible]. Two of [illegible] Fell's patent [illegible] water [illegible]. The Company are now [illegible], as we were informed yesterday by [illegible] Pres[illegible]ent, at the following rates: [illegible] linen rags, 5 cents per lb.; for clean [illegible] lb.; for clean gunnies 3 cents per lb. [illegible] of the [illegible], returned to [illegible] evening, from a tour through [illegible] while there [illegible] 200 tons of material [illegible] book, news, and wrapping paper. The [illegible] Mr. W. R. Campbell, late of Ohio, [illegible] machinery, which [illegible] well adapted to [illegible] He expects to have some parts of it in operation [illegible] middle of October. Rag picking has of [illegible] of the [illegible] is very evidently a paying one.

[illegible] ON THE WILLAMETTE.—The [illegible] Echo, [illegible] left Canemah yesterday morning, for [illegible] and Corvallis. Notwithstanding the [illegible] of the water it is understood that the Echo will [illegible] regular weekly trips. The P. T. Company [illegible] laid out for a new light draught steamer, [illegible] 126 feet keel, which will be in use for the [illegible] valley trade during the coming season, and it is [illegible] to navigate in nine inches of water. [illegible] Fannie, Active and Enterprise are [illegible] going a thorough fitting for the fall [illegible] of 1866. The Fannie Patton has been handsomely finished in rich mahogany colors on the interior, and will [illegible] out as bright as a floating palace. Below the Falls [illegible] Alert and Rival are receiving repairs. The [illegible] made [illegible] to be larger than ever before. It is [illegible] that 65,000 tons of freight will pass over the [illegible] of the P. T. Company [illegible] the close of the [illegible].

[illegible].—To pass a steamer through [illegible] rapids, [illegible] Portland and Oregon City, [illegible] skillful handling by [illegible] the man at the wheel [illegible] of the low stage of water and [illegible] to be in the pilot [illegible] today, with Capt. Eph. Baughman [illegible] two with [illegible] a dis[illegible] term steamship management on [illegible] with the [illegible] and which has [illegible] for [illegible] in his line which is [illegible]. A part of the run was made with [illegible] under a full head of steam, yet we [illegible].

[illegible].—Rev. Doctor Hamlin, of Constan[illegible] lives, it is said, by the use of [illegible] simple [illegible] during the terrible [illegible] in that city a few years since. In no case [illegible] the disease could be [illegible] in [illegible]. It is no less effective in cholera morbus and or[illegible]. One part [illegible] opium, one part camphor, [illegible] two parts tincture of ginger, two parts capsicum [illegible] spoonful in a wine glass of water. [illegible] repeat the dose in three or four hours.

[illegible] BAY COMPANY'S CLAIMS.—Hon. Amory [illegible] for the Hudson's Bay Company, Frank [illegible] for the Puget Sound Agricultural [illegible] Applegate, Rinearson and Carson, [illegible] on the part of the United States, and Dr. [illegible] and Mr. McDonald, of the Hudson Bay [illegible] yesterday by the steamer Senator for Oregon City. [illegible] the final preparations will be made for [illegible] recently taken concerning the [illegible] companies against the United States.

[illegible] D'Orny gives her second concert at [illegible] Hall on Monday evening next. It is understood that the programme will be a varied and attractive one. The [illegible] Song," composed by the Madame, will be [illegible] on this occasion. It is a semi-buffo affair and stirs the risibilities of her audience to a degree. [illegible] from the great musical composers will also be [illegible].

[illegible] MILL.—The West side of the P. T. Company's basin, at Oregon City, affords excellent water privileges, which are [illegible] being improved. Messrs. Pease & Miller have recently removed a saw mill from Tualatin, [illegible] by Messrs. Pease & Moore, which is now [illegible] on this new site, and is kept busy turning [illegible] to supply the demand at Oregon City in [illegible] and other improvements.

[illegible].—Considerable consternation, consequent upon the [illegible] of an unconstrained dray horse, [illegible] the usual order of travel on First street, [illegible] pedestrians at the corner of Washington street last evening about 8 o'clock. The horse [illegible] from somewhere, but as to the exact [illegible] of his bringing up, or the results of the flight, we [illegible].

[illegible].—Our citizens deeply regret the loss [illegible] by the people of Vancouver at the fire yesterday [illegible] account of which is given in our tele[illegible]. The place was just beginning to assume [illegible] of thrift and enterprise, after a long period of [illegible], and it is a worse misfortune that the [illegible] visited them at this particular time.

[illegible].—The steamer Cascade returned to her dock in this city yesterday from Cottonwood Point, working one engine, having broken her shaft. The steamer John H. Couch was sent in her stead to the [illegible], and did not return until late last night. The Wilson G. Hunt will resume her trips, leaving this [illegible] at the usual hour.

[illegible]'s COURT.—Judge Hoffman's attention was [illegible] taken up in attending to the case of a man named McLane, arrested on a charge of assault and battery. The trial was by jury, and resulted in conviction. [illegible] was [illegible] until to-day. Several drunks, and a case of larceny, in which two Chinamen are defendants, will be heard to-day.

NEW WHEAT.—The Standard Mills yesterday received a [illegible] of new wheat from Yamhill county. We are informed that the prices paid were private. A small lot was also discharged from the Senator at Brooklyn, for the Brooklyn Mills.

THE LINCOLN HOUSE.—Mr. N. C. Matthiessen, proprietor of the popular and well known "St. Nicholas," of Victoria, has taken the Lincoln House of this city, which he designs making the hotel of Portland. Mr. M. knows how to keep a hotel, and his success here is beyond a doubt.

IN NEW YORK.—A private telegram from New York announces the arrival there, on the 21st, of Hon H. W. Eddy, and those who accompanied him recently from Portland. Col. Otis Taylor was a passenger by the same steamer.

OILS.—Messrs. Hayward & Coleman, 92 Front street, this morning announce that they have in store and to arrive a large quantity of oil.

SAILED FOR PORTLAND.—The steamers Montana and California left San Francisco last evening at 4 o'clock for Portland.

CALIFORNIA ITEMS.

The Stockton Herald of August 13th, says that considerable damage by fire has occurred recently to several grain fields on some parts of the Suscol ranch. One man's field took fire in nine places on the same day, and although a watch was kept no person could be seen on the place. It is supposed that the fire was communicated by means of some sort of torpedo or other combustibles.

The Red Bluff Observer, of August 11th, says:

The mail rider from Fort Bidwell, August 1st, via Fort Crook, arrived at Red Bluff on the 9th, and reports that the Indians made a raid into Surprise Valley just before he left, running off nearly a hundred head of horses and a large number of cattle, from a point some thirty miles south of the fort. The troops started in pursuit as soon as intelligence was received, the Indians taking to the mountains twenty hours in advance of the soldiers.

The Gold Hill News says:

The editorial rooms of the San Francisco Times are being elegantly fitted up. The new paper will be issued by or before the first of September. Scabbard, now of the Stockton Independent, is to be the "heavy writer;" McClatchey, lately of the Bee, is to be the news editor, but the walking gentlemen (locals) are not announced.

The Examiner says among the arrivals by the Sacramento were R. H. Dana and wife. Mr. Dana has left Chicago to undertake the editorship of the forthcoming Times, it is understood.

The Nevada Gazette says:

Rev. S. V. Blakeslee arrived in town about half-past six last evening. He says that when he reached the top of the hill this side of Greenhorn, he looked back and saw the town enveloped in flames. The town is so situated, that a fire once under headway could not be checked, and the entire place must have been destroyed. Red Dog contained some forty or fifty houses, and a population of two or three hundred.

Indian Hostilities on the Plains.

JULESBURG, Aug. 2d.—Reports this morning say that the Indians drove off the Government herd yesterday from Fort Laramie, and the herd of a ranchman one mile from the fort. They have also burned three forts on Powder river and killed thirty-five men. At Fort Connor twelve men were killed. They have also destroyed a number of trains in that vicinity and killed a great number of people. Will try and get further particulars.

LIVING SPRINGS, Aug. 2.—Stage passengers on this morning's coach from the East say a very serious affair occurred at Diamond Springs about the time the coach passed that point. Some ranchmen had given a Sioux Indian liquor until he became intoxicated, when he ran his pony through the place, shooting at every one in sight. The proprietor of the coach was seriously wounded. Two other white men were wounded slightly. The passengers say other Indians are after the one that committed this outrage, and they will kill him.

We have credible information that a wagon train, carrying the wire for the new telegraph line to Salt Lake and California, was attacked by Indians some ten days since, near Julesburg. The Indians drew up in a line across the road, and when the wagon train attempted to go around them, commenced shooting with their bows and arrows. The train men promptly brought their rifles to bear, and the Indians skedaddled for the bluffs.

The future of the Federal Executive is full of dark forebodings. God watch us through the night, and send us once again a pilot for our ship of State, that can take the helm with fear only of the Infinite and unbounded faith in the people. The nation will not withhold its support from him.—Red Bluff Independent.

DRY GOODS.

Meagher, Taaffe & Co., No. 9 Lick House, Montgomery street, will never get through selling their immense stock of dry goods, piled up in their retail store as above; so the ladies say. And why? We say, because they replenish their stock every day, from their wholesale house on Battery street, and increase their Battery street house from the New York house. That is why they can afford to sell goods so much cheaper than any other dry goods establishment in San Francisco. Packages of goods sold are sent home to the purchasers the same day, by their porters, who are kept busy on the run. Now, ladies, you have the secret, why Meagher, Taaffe & Co. sell so much and at such low prices. au20tf

A Word to the Aged.—In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay, can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged
DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS,
As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effect. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, acts like a charm upon the spirits. For dyspepsia, oppression after eating, bilious cholic, wind cholic, spasms of the stomach, sick or nervous head-ache, chills and fever, prostration, and all the complaints special to the feebler sex, the Bitters are earnestly recommended by thousands who have witnessed their superior efficacy in such cases. Sold by all druggists and dealers everywhere.

GRAEFFENBERG
UTERINE CATHOLICON
If faithfully used according to directions will cure every case of Diabetes, and greatly mitigate the troublesome effects caused by a relaxation of the outlet of the bladder. It is a most successful remedy for Gravel and other diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, and for Female Diseases is unequaled. The Catholicon uniformly cures Prolapsus Uteri, Whites, all Irregularities of the Monthly Turns, Suppression, Incontinence of Urine, Bloating and Dropsical Swellings, and all Diseases of Pregnancy. The specific action of this medicine is immediate and certain upon the Uterine and Abdominal Muscles and Ligaments, restoring them to as healthy a state as those of childhood and youth, so that patients who have used the Graeffenberg Company's Uterine Catholicon cannot sufficiently express their gratitude for the relief afforded. S. T.—1860.—X.
Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated
PLANTATION BITTERS,
Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supercede all other tonics where a healthy, gentle stimulant is required.
They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.
Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
READ AND REFLECT.
Make sure of HEALTH. "But how?" you ask;
We answer, 'tis an easy task.
Strengthen the STOMACH, and sustain
The NERVES, the servants of the brain.
The LIVER keep in active play
And regulate, from day to day.
Each organ aid, on Nature's plan,
Brace and refresh the inner MAN,
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care, with railroad time,
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory o'er Disease be won?"
"HOSTETTER'S BITTERS," we reply,
Is HEALTH'S SUPREME PROTECTOR! TRY IT!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation, either of the past or the present time, has been so completely and universally successful as
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
Against the vapors foul prepare,
That fever-taint the heavy air.
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
'Tis Heine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent:
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for note
They are the [illegible]

To act as defence the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work-rooms and factories, and the baneful effects of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be fore-armed with
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind:
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysenteric pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills,
Ne'er conquered yet by drastic pills;
Bread diarrhoea that cannot be
Cured by destructive [illegible];
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom—
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For these though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least we hail,
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS—medicine sure,
Not to prevent, alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of Man or Woman, proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To households lone, in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners, California bound,
And tillers of wet, marshy ground;
To feeble wives of fragile mould,
To young and middle-aged, and old;
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gift without alloy;
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element.

If there is any value in public opinion, or any weight in medical testimony, the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
Sold by respectable druggists in all parts of the world.

STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

Summer Moon.

Summer moon, O summer moon, across the west you fly,
You gaze on half the earth at once with sweet and steadfast eye;
Summer moon, O summer moon, were I aloft with thee,
I know that I could look upon my boy that sails at sea.

Summer moon, O summer moon, you throw your silver showers
Upon a glassy sea that lies round shores of fruit and flowers;
The blue tide trembles on the shore, with murmuring as of bees;
And the shadow of the ship lies dark near shades of orange trees.

Summer moon, O summer moon, now wind and storm have fled,
Your light creeps through a cabin-pane and lights a flaxen head;
He tosses with his lips apart, lies smiling in your beam,
For underneath his folded lids you put a gentle gleam.

Summer moon, O summer moon, his head is on his arm,
He stirs with balmy breath and sees the moonlight on the farm,
He stirs and breathes his mother's name, he smiles and sees once more
The moon above, the fields below, the shadow at the door.

Summer moon, O summer moon, across the lift you go,
Far south you gaze and see my boy, where groves of orange grow.
Summer moon, O summer moon, you turn again to me,
And seem to have the smile of him who sleeps upon the sea.—Robert Buchanan.

Dreadful Suffering at Sea.

The Padstow bark, Jane Lowden, found by the Graham, water-logged and five corpses on board, is not, as was supposed, without a living witness of her fate. Mrs. Casey, of Padstow, has forwarded to the Western Morning News, letters received from her husband, the captain of the Jane Lowden, and the sole survivor of the crew of sixteen, all told. He writes from Holland, having been conveyed thither by the captain of the Dutch bark Ida Elizabeth, by which he had been taken off his vessel after incredible sufferings. The captain states that he was thirty-three days in the maintop of one of the masts of his ship, and that during twenty-eight days he never tasted food. On the 21st December his ship filled during a heavy storm, and it was not until the 22d January that he was picked up. When taken off his ship he had been ten days alone on the ocean, the last man on board having died ten days before.

The Rev. J. M. Arnold gives the following statement, derived from the lips of captain Casey himself, of the fearful sufferings of the Jane Lowden's crew:

The Jane Lowden, with seventeen men and a cargo of wood was proceeding from Quebec to Falmouth, and encountered four heavy gales, the last on 21st December, in lat. 46 deg., long. 33 deg. W., which completely disabled her, the fearful seas mounting forty feet high, such as Captain Casey had never seen before, carrying off everything on deck, and every soul on board washed out of her. Nine of the crew were thus lost, but the Captain and the rest of the men managed to regain the ship notwithstanding it was dark, being six o'clock P. M. They all took refuge in the maintop, which measured five feet by four feet. While there the vessel capsized, immersing them in the waves, but they held on and she soon righted herself. The vessel was gradually driven to 17 deg. W. longitude, during which time the poor sufferers, having endured the pangs of hunger, and tormented with a raging thirst, had the agony of seeing ten vessels in the distance, successively pass on their course. In spite of the Captain's prohibition, some of the men stole down when he was asleep during the temporary lull, to try and slake their maddening thirst with the sea water, but this only increased their torment and brought on delirium. Two men became violent, and the Captain was obliged to strap them down, in which state they expired. One poor lad (William Thomas) of 19, died on the twelfth day after the vessel was struck, in a quiet delirium; calling repeatedly on his mother to give him a drink, and to shut the door to keep out the cold, and extending his hand to shake that of imagined near friends, he sank peacefully to sleep. Another, Hugh Rice, died about the eleventh day, from exposure and the effects of drinking salt water.

It may be well to give the names of the rest of the crew. Edwin Mobley, Chief Mate, leaves a destitute family at Plymouth; Samuel Bird, Second Mate, address not remembered, leaves a wife and children in England. John Abrey, cook, leaves a wife only. Henry Pope, address unknown, 17 years of age, was the sole support of his widowed mother, and the eldest of six children. Evan Davies, washed overboard, leaves a family at Milford. Francis Martin, aged 25 or so, married, died after 15 days' exposure and starvation before becoming delirious he proposed eating the dead body of one of the crew, which the Captain forbade. Alfred Bolton, who had run away from Liverpool, aged 16 or 17, died delirious, after drinking salt water. John Pugh, who married a fortnight before sailing, was drowned. James Griffith, J— C—, of G—, Thos. Geak, all young lads, were drowned. William Maitland, young and unmarried, died after 14 days of exposure and starvation. Thos. Bowen, married, died after 15 days. The last of the crew, who died by the Captain's side was [illegible], the carpenter; he was hopeful till almost the last, talking within an hour of his death, which did not take place till the 18th day. As the poor fellows sank one after the other, all dying apparently in their sleep, their bodies were dropped off the maintop on the deck, but the last body the Captain kept twenty hours by his side.

The temptation to open a vein and drink the dead man's blood was strong upon him, but he firmly resisted it, and lingered on for ten days more, long, long days, sustaining his life by drinking as much rain as he could collect, by tying his coat round the mast, and, when it became drenched, sucking it. The tar thus absorbed with the rain he justly thinks helped to preserve him from utter exhaustion. The fact, too, of his being better clothed than his crew he thinks may also account, humanly speaking, for his marvelous preservation. On the twenty-eighth night he laid himself flat on the maintop, as he expected it, resigning himself to his doom, whatever it might be, perfectly conscious of his critical position, yet not losing all hope, or his reason, though his brain was so weak that he often heard voices calling, sometimes in most piteous accents, "Captain, Captain!" On one, say, he said that he distinctly heard a voice say, "Captain, your forecastle is blown away." So distinct and clear was it that he exclaimed, "Who are you?" and then, "I can't help it." He said he still felt that the God who had sustained His mercy to him so he could still save his life, and he again prayed that a vessel might come to his rescue. The following morning, the 18th of January, his relief hope was realized, for the Ida Elizabeth, unknown to him, had neared the wreck the previous night with the intention of destroying the next morning so dangerous an object.

Captain Casey, having now for the first time, sighted the ship, raised his feeble arm to display his colors. Captain Doren, on seeing this unexpected sign of life, had the exhausted man carefully conveyed on board the Ida Elizabeth, where, according to his prayer, a doctor was ready to receive him, who, with the Captain and crew, showed him the sympathy and attention of brothers rather than strangers. In nine days they reached Hinter Diep. The day after the arrival of the Ida Elizabeth, Captain Casey was removed to the Marine Hospital, and placed in a most comfortable apartment, and received every attention. It is hoped that in a week or three weeks he may be able to return to his home, and that his blackened, frost-bitten fingers and toes may be cured without amputation. He is progressing favorably, but he is still very weak, and he says he feels his strength coming as slowly as it left him during his twenty-eight days of exposure and other privation.—Australian Paper.

Grant's Medicine for the Unreconstructed.—A dose of this medicine was administered the other day at Petersburg, Va., to one of the unreconstructed, who was sent to Richmond to be "kept in military confinement until a proper judicial tribunal may be ready and willing to try him." The Petersburg papers don't like this summary method of dosing refractory patients. All that Keene appears to have done was to give a black man a few cracks over the head with a big hammer, the said black man having given him some "sass" because he (Keene) had thrown a quid of tobacco at him. The injured man showed his broken head to a magistrate and asked for a warrant for the ruffian's arrest, but was refused one. What rights had Sambo that a white magistrate was bound to respect—what rights now, any more than before the war, in which he shed so much of the warm blood of Africa? Gen. Grant's order answered that question, and thereupon a big hullabaloo was set up in Petersburg. Only to think a white man—one of the chivalry—arrested on "negro testimony" and sent off to a military prison! In the good old chivalry time, instead of a crime, it would have been looked upon as simply a bit of pastime to crack a negro's crown with a big hammer. But the world is getting topsy-turvy, and chivalry, now-a-days, is at a long discount.

Rather Forgetful.—There is a legend that one day a woman went to Brigham Young for counsel touching some alleged oppression by an officer of the church. Brigham, like a true politician, assumed to know her; but when it became necessary to record her case, hesitated and said: "Let me see, sister—I forget your name." "My name!" was the indignant reply, "why I am your wife." "When did I marry you?" The woman informed the "President," who referred to an account book in his desk, and then said, "Well, I believe you are right, I knew your face was familiar!"

Operations in Bohemia—Official Report to Berlin.

The following interesting report was received at Berlin, July 11th from the Prussian headquarters at Pardubitz, dated the 8th of July:

The continued victorious advance of our (Prussian) troops has entailed the necessity of hurrying on the headquarters without delay. For the first time for several days the brief rest has now been gained. That the strength of the Austrian army is already completely broken is evident from the fact that the Prussian headquarters are liable to be established at Pardubitz, in a strategic respect of the most important points of Bohemia. Pardubitz forms the immediate center of the Bohemian railway system; lines diverge from it to Prague, Vienna, and, by way of Reichenberg, to Saxony and Dresden. It is true that lines have been in places destroyed, but the Prussian pioneers, with their well known readiness, will soon repair the damaged parts, and the two small fortresses of Konigratz and Josephstadt, which will cut the communication between Reichenberg and Pardubitz, will in a few days have fallen into Prussian hands. Koniggratz has been bombarded with red-shot since the day before yesterday and cannot hold out much longer. The Prussians will then soon settle down comfortably in Bohemia, and the army will be easy to feed in a province blest with an abundant harvest.

Pardubitz itself is not a fortress, but a tolerably strong point lying on the Elbe, and materially protected on one of its sides by that river. In their retreat the Austrians burned the great bridge, but the Prussians immediately constructed a temporary bridge of boats, and were not delayed more than a few hours by this obstacle. The town is tolerably large, containing some ten thousand inhabitants, and only a mile distant lies Chrudin, another and more considerable place, so that this district affords plenty of good quarters for the entire army. And greatly does it stand in need of such. For several weeks past it has been exposed to the severest hardships, having to fight its way through a thinly populated country, partly exhausted of supplies by the Austrians, and partly rendered desolate. There are a number of officers among the guards belonging to the best families of Prussia, who have eaten and drunk nothing for weeks but dry army bread and dirty water, and have slept upon the bare, muddy ground under the open sky, without hay or straw. Engagements have daily been fought, in which large numbers of men have been killed and wounded. Yet officers and men have borne all these trials with the greatest heroism, and the army is animated by a spirit of which the Prussian people may well be proud. Here in Pardubitz all have rested and been refreshed, and the victorious march now commences anew. While I write, the first regiment of the Guards is just marching out, with a band playing, past my window.

A great pleasure was in store for the army upon entering here to find seventy-two Prussian soldiers, who had been taken prisoners, the Austrians having been too intent upon hasty flight to embarrass themselves with captives. A very favorable proof of the spirit animating the Prussian army is indeed afforded by the comparatively speaking trifling number of men who have fallen into the enemy's hands. While at least thirty-five thousand prisoners have to be deducted from the Austrian strength, the Prussians have not had more than a few hundred taken. The needle gun again has impressed the Austrians with intense respect. Captured officers frankly declare that as soon as their men saw themselves exposed to the fire of this gun, they threw down their arms and surrendered in crowds. Stories are told of its effect that border on the marvelous. At the battle of Koniggratz a company of the First Guards charged an Austrian battery posted in front of Khlum, which made magnificent practice with grenades. The Austrians expected the enemy would come on in closed ranks, in which case probably hardly a man would have survived. But of a sudden the company opened out into a long line of skirmishers, who advanced upon the battery, maintaining a rapid fire for some minutes with the needle gun, each shot being carefully aimed. The battery fired just one shot more, and down went man and horse into one helpless, indiscriminate mass. One gunner alone kept his feet, and this man had the courage to serve and load his piece single-handed and fire one discharge, which unfortunately shattered an officer's shoulder. Directly after this shot the brave Austrian fell riddled like a sieve by Prussian bullets. General Hiller von Gærringen rode up to the company and congratulated them on their bravery, proclaiming the captured Austrian battery their property. Immediately after an Austrian grenade struck down the General, upon whose body the King and Princes wept bitter tears.

Wretched as is the Austrian foot, the artillery is excellent. At Koniggratz their guns were mostly posted upon the hights, and the gunners knew the exact distance into the valleys. Notwithstanding the rapidity with which the Prussians followed up the enemy, they were not always able to bring up their guns in sufficient time. Most of the Prussian wounded, and especially the officers, were therefore hit by grenades and splinters. The Austrian cavalry is quite unimportant, for it has never yet succeeded in throwing the Prussian horse, and a cavalry attack upon a Prussian corps armed with the needle gun is an impossibility. The horses are regularly mown down; often, indeed, if wounded, turn tail and rush back among the infantry, where they do heavy damage. At Koniggratz the Austrian cavalry was completely defeated by the brilliant charges of the Prussians. The Austrian military medical arrangements seem particularly defective. While positive wonders have been accomplished by the Prussians in this department, while the Knights of St. John and the voluntary associations display the greatest care and tenderness both for friend and enemy, not the smallest trace of any such organization is seen upon the side of the Austrians. In all places we enter we find crowds of wounded Austrians left behind helpless, without a sign of any hospital arrangements.

The Bill Relating to Pilots.—The following is a copy of the bill introduced by Mr. McRuer and passed by Congress, relating to pilots and pilot regulations:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That all pilots in the bays, inlets, rivers, harbors and ports of the United States shall be regulated in conformity with the laws of the States respectively wherein such places may be, as provided in the fourth section of the act entitled "An act for the establishment and support of light-houses, beacons, buoys and public piers," approved August 7, 1789; and by the act entitled "An act concerning pilots," approved March 2, 1837: Provided, however, That no regulations shall be adopted which shall make any discrimination as to the rate of pilotage or half-pilotage fees between vessels coasting between the ports of one State and those coasting between the ports of different States, or any discrimination against vessels propelled in whole or in part by steam, or against any national vessels of the United States; and all existing regulations making any such discrimination as herein mentioned are hereby annulled and abrogated.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for the master or commander of any steam vessel, owned by citizens of the United States and belonging to any established line of steam vessels plying between any port or ports in the United States and any foreign port or ports, or between ports of different States of the United States, to submit himself for examination by the Board of Pilot Commissioners, or other authority empowered by the laws of the State to grant licenses to pilots for any such port or ports in the United States, and upon being found on the examination qualified to act as pilot of such steam vessel, and upon paying the fees required in such cases, shall receive from the said board (or other authority empowered to grant licenses to pilots) a license to act as pilot of the steam vessel of which he is master or commander for the ports designated therein, and may thereafter take his steam vessel into and out of such port or ports without taking any other pilot, and in that case neither the vessel nor the owners thereof shall be liable for any pilot charges of such ports, any statute of any State to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Philadelphia Delegates.—The New York News, being delighted with the delegates from the South to the Philadelphia Convention, says of them: "Most of the delegates espoused the Confederate cause. Some of them fainted by the wayside, but the most of them remained faithful to the end." The News is too moderate in its praise, says the St. Louis Democrat. Every man who goes as delegate to the Philadelphia Convention remains faithful to the end to the Confederate cause. If any "fainted by the wayside," they have caught up again, and are in line for another charge.

Heavy on Johnson.—The Pittsburg Commercial, which has been, until recently, inclined to support Andrew Johnson, now says truthfully, that in his recent action "he dishonored all his profession, recklessly threw away such an opportunity as no man ever had, and chose a course that not only impeached his honesty but utterly confounded all previous ideas as to his sagacity."

A Copperhead exchange asks, "shall we have another civil war?" Our opinion is, you had better not.

Kossuth and the Hungarians.—The following proclamation has been circulated among the Magyar soldiers of the Austrian army in Italy:

Royal Italian Camp, June 24, 1866.

Hungarians! With the help of Italy's heroic and honest King, in the sacred name of our country and God, the flag of Magyar independence is hoisted anew, and it counts upon your service. Here is your place of honour and duty. Austria is our enemy, not Italy. The true friends of our country have never found in Austria aught but the hangman, a jailor, insult and misery. Italy gave shelter, bread and kindness to the banished Hungarians. If Magyars were to repay this double treatment by supporting Austria in her efforts to put down Italy's freedom, the curse of the just God would be on them. Italy alone has a right to Venetia. It is hers—her own offspring. Italy is for the Italians—Hungary for the Hungarians; but with Austria from Italy, out with her from Hungary. Nature's law, justice require it. You owe no allegiance to the Austrians. You have been dragged to the battle-field against your will, in violation of the law, by arbitrary enrollment. You owe Austria no fidelity. That perjued race has been excluded from Hungary's throne since 1849 by the will of the liberated nation, and the law which pronounced its expulsion forever warned all Hungarians to beware serving it, under the penalty of treason. That law is still in vigor; it has never been recalled. So, then, your faithfulness, bravery and allegiance are only due to your country. Would you be deserters from your national cause by remaining in the service of your mortal enemy? He is the run-away who stays with Austria to uphold her in torturing, degrading and ruining his own native land. Here or there, fight you must. Fight, then, for your country's good, not for the benefit of your country's oppressors. By crowding under our national flag, the war may be concluded soon—cost less blood. By remaining under the Hapsburg flag you would bleed away for a long time, since the war would, by your very gallantry, be protracted indefinitely. Leave, then, those abhorred ranks. Come here, my bravest! There, victory itself is a curse for you. Here, death itself is rich in blessing from your country. I await you. And I call upon you also in the name of Garibaldi, who is with us ready to draw his glorious sword on behalf of Hungary, which will rise and break her chains. You must have a Magyar's heart still in spite of the Austrian uniform and servitude which keeps down its beatings. In Hungarian hands the very sword and bayonet must think. Behold, then, your occasion for reasoned and hearty action. Up! hasten to where the tri-color floats. There is glory and honor to be gained; your post is there. This appeal to your patriotism is made by me in virtue of the leadership which our nation has intrusted me with of old to achieve the cause of independence. I call upon you in the name of God and the nation, and in the sacred name of our country I command you to leave the service of Austria and to come here where duty to Hungary awaits you. Hurrah for the King of Italy! Hurrah for the Italo-Hungarian alliance! Hurrah (eljen) for our country. LOUIS KOSSUTH.

Governor Geary.—Governor Geary is making a splendid contest in Pennsylvania, with every prospect of triumphant success. Even well informed Democratic leaders admit that he cannot be beaten. The President has made very few defections from the Republican ranks—a few sureheads and a few bummers, with a portion of the office holders, but not enough in all to compensate the rapid gains making by the party.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above-mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease any way connected with the disorder or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom of an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor.—The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER,
INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL
URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females,

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.
